

Construction Accidents

New York City Construction Accident Lawyers

In New York, there are many safety regulations governing construction sites. If companies break these rules, and a worker is injured, the company may be liable for medical bills, lost wages, pain and suffering and other expenses arising from the construction accident.

The construction accident attorneys at Sullivan & Brill, LLP help families throughout the New York City area get the compensation they deserve after a construction accident. Speak with attorney Joseph F. Sullivan during a free initial consultation and he can quickly determine whether you have a case. If you do, he will take your case on a contingency basis, meaning clients are not charged attorneys' fees until a settlement or verdict is reached.

The firm takes clients in New York City (Manhattan, Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens, and Staten Island), Nassau County, Suffolk County, and Westchester County, as well as the other counties of New York.

Types of Construction Accidents

A lawyer working in New York construction accident litigation must have a strong understanding of the many state and federal laws that govern safety on construction sites. Mr. Sullivan has over 10 years of experience helping dozens of clients in battles against construction companies. Attorney Sullivan has a comprehensive knowledge of the issues surrounding construction accidents, including the following:

- Labor Law Section 240
- Labor Law Section 241
- Scaffolding Accidents
- OSHA Violations
- Industrial Code Violations

- Defective Machinery and Tools

Sullivan & Brill, LLP have taken hundreds of personal injury cases to court, and will not hesitate to do so if it is in their client's best interests. By working closely with each client and fully preparing every case for trial, they usually obtain above average settlements and verdicts.
